

The LTI Group Gets a Makeover With New Internet Identity

Pittsfield, MA - December 18, 2009 - The LTI Group is proud to announce the launch of a new corporate online image via the release of a newly renovated company website. Today's market demands an online identity that is consistent with the company's products provided by the division that interests the visitor. In addition, information about the LTI Group is now easily discernible via their new "About Us" tab added to their new navigation bar.

New additions that are notable include a search tab, hot links navigation, and Frequently Asked Questions section dedicated to providing on-the-spot answers to many of LTI's customer generated inquiries. A new photo gallery called the "Show Room" is full of documented installations using many of the products that are made by the LTI Group, including the very popular Switchable Privacy Smart Glass that instantly changes from opaque to transparent at the flip of a switch.

The LTI Group is comprised of three distinct offerings: SMART GARD™, Smart Glass, and Smart Design.

LTI SMART GARD™ represents products designed for the detention, security, intelligence, and ballistic product market.

LTI Smart Glass represents electrified panels such as the switchable privacy product and Variable Tint Glass commonly found in corporate America, and often filters into the retail and residential markets, as well.

LTI Smart Design represents the custom decorative laminates that make LTI the perfect contact for that "crazy something" that is desired by designers for railings, decorative panels, back splashes, table tops, and more!

www.LTISG.com now proudly displays the company's newly designed logo, and also features a photo of their new Corporate Headquarters located in Pittsfield, MA. The logo and location is new, but the company and its products are the same that architects, designers, and contractors have grown to know and depend on over the past decade.
